Dear Mark,

It is with much gratitude that I write this letter of recommendation. You certainly have been a vital part of the Ridgecrest Building Committee. We sent you the letter of notification that we had picked you as our GC back in April of 2003. Even when we came to one of the many dead ends in that long process, you stuck with us. That in of itself should have given us an indication of your character. You even managed to complete construction during the worst 12 months of weather this region has seen in years!

I want to make special note of the tireless effort and persistence of Brian in coordinating many of our construction activities and challenges. He is a fine man who lives up to his word and is someone you can count on to see a problem through to its resolution.

I also want to make mention about Dale our construction supervisor. He watched over this project as if he was building this facility for himself. It is obvious that he takes great pride in what he builds. Many times he made valuable suggestions and headed off potential problems because of his attention to detail.

Finally, it is a testament to your company of the quality of the sub-contractors that are eager to work on a Wachter job site. During construction I had opportunities to engage with many of them and hope we get to have many of them back on future projects.

You have delivered to us an excellent product that so many people are enjoying. Our hope is that we won't have very long to wait to employ your services for our other phases of construction. I guess the bottom line is you boys at Wachter know how to do things right and how to treat the owners with respect and care. If you ever need to have a prospective customer see some of your work, feel free to send them to us.

Blessings,

David Iannacone
